Development Experience

Dog List, Lexington, KY
Developer | June 2024

- Built the front end using React.js. Users can log in, create new accounts, update their profiles, and make listings. Additionally, they can send messages to other users. The front end was deployed using Vercel.
- Developed the backend with Django/DRF and Python. It includes all necessary models and views to manage data from the front end. The backend was deployed using Fly.

Weather App, Lexington, KY
Front End Developer | April 2024

- Created a weather app using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. As one of my first projects, it allows users to enter any U.S. zip code and receive the current weather and temperature for that location.
- Integrated a feature that allows the app to dynamically change the screen color based on the temperature: red for hot, light blue for cold, and white for neutral.
